

Accepted paper with abstract, SoCG'09

Andrea Francke and Michael Hoffmann

Maximum Degree Four Euclidean Minimum Spanning Tree is NP-hard

We show that it is an NP-hard problem to decide for a given set P of n points in the Euclidean plane and a given parameter $k \in \mathfrak{R}$, whether P admits a spanning tree of maximum vertex degree four whose sum of edge lengths does not exceed k .